BRITAIN SET FOR CRISIS, HOUSE TOLD

LONDON, April 5 (INS)—Prime Minister Chamberlain today confirmed that certain precautions "normal in times of tension" are being taken by the British navy, but he insisted that no alarmist significance should be attached to Lord Stanhope's inadvertent remark that the fleet's anti-aircraft guns suddenly had been manned.

WAR CLOUDS

TENSION—Chiefly over Mediterranean and Adriatic—arose in Europe today as British cabinet wrestled with a series of problems including Italo-Albanian relations.

EXPLAINS—Prime Minister Chamberlain admits in House of Commons that British navy is ready for action; says assertion of Lord Stanhope, first lord of admiralty, that British fleet anti-aircraft guns had been manned, was only slip of tongue.

THREAT—Negotiations progressing in Rome, for stronger Italo-Albanian alliance.

LAUGH—German newspapers poke fun at Lord Stanhope asking if he meant Martians were dropping on London.

TROUBLE—French government understood to be sending cruiser to Alexandria where Turks prepare to move in on part of Syria.

Man Found Dead in 15th Floor Window

NEW YORK, April 5 (INS)—Sighting a man's body lying in an open 15th floor window of a midtown hotel, police crawled along a narrow ledge of the building today and discovered the man was dead.

Death of four naval fliers brings quick investigation by naval authorities, with board of inquiry in session at Navy Yard . . . (front row, l. to r.) Lieut.-Commr. H. M. Weber, Commr. W. J. Morcott, Lieut. J. J. Shea; (rear) Lieut. J. N. Bennett of Marines as recorder (left) and F. X. Murphy as reporter.

NAVY OPENS 2-WAY QUIZ IN AIR CRASH

Seeking the answer to New England's worst air collision, two naval boards of inquiry launched investigations into the crash of two Navy planes and the deaths of two pilots and two mechanics.

Colliding at 1500 feet just after the launching of the air-plane carrier Wasp at Quincy, the two ships spun to earth a mile apart in Braintree, where two homes were burned to the ground and a third damaged in the resulting crashes and explosions.

Lieutenant Commander Michael Kernodie, 17, S. N. commandant of the Squantum naval air base, tentatively blamed the tragedy to gusty winds as the probe was ordered.

One board, meeting at Squantum, he announced, would determine the cause of the accident, while a second would fix the damage in the three homes struck by the falling ships.

CALL FIRST WITNESS

The board to investigate the accident is made up of Commander W. J. Morcott of Boston Navy Yard, Lieutenant-Commander H. M. Weber of the medical corps, Lieutenant J. J. Shea of the naval reserve at Squantum, and Second Lieutenant J. C. Bennett of the marine corps. The damage board is composed of Lieutenant-Commander F. C. Spengel, attached to the civil engineering corps; Lieutenant-Commander Kernodie, and Lieutenant J. F. Staniunas of the civil engineering corps.

The first group, called the board of inquest and investigation, met in the courtroom at Boston Navy Yard, mapped out a plan of procedure and then called one of its own members, Lieutenant Shea, as a witness.

He identified the four victims of the tragedy, then described circumstances of the two crashes as he found them at the crash scenes yesterday.

This session was brief and the board adjourned until this afternoon, when it met again at Squantum.

3 Judges Named by Governor

Governor Saltonstall today announced the resignation of Chief Justice Wilfred Bolster of Boston municipal court, appointment of three judges and approval of five others for state positions.

F. D. Putnam, 38, former legislative secretary of Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., was nominated to fill the vacancy created by Judge Putnam's advancement.

George E. O'Toole, special justice of Clinton district court for 12 years, and a Democrat, was nominated presiding justice of that court to succeed Judge Allen G. Buttrick, who was named to the Superior court bench last week.

All judicial appointments must be confirmed by the executive council.

EASTER WEDDING—San Francisco and altar bound today is Miss Agnes Conlon of Brookline, who will wed Jockey "Red" Pollard on Easter Monday. Romance started last summer when Pollard broke a leg (inset)

JOHNNY "RED" POLLARD

GIRL GOES TO WED JOCKEY POLLARD

Jockey Johnny "Red" Pollard's pretty Brookline bride-to-be, fluff-haired Nurse Agnes Conlon, formerly of Winthrop Community hospital, was on her way to San Francisco today to go to the altar there on Easter Monday with the famous young rider she first met when he was a patient in her ward.

A broken leg, which kept Pollard from booting Seabiscuit home a winner over War Admiral last summer, had a romantic sequel in the love affair which developed between Pollard and Miss Conlon, who was assigned to his case.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Conlon of Babcock street, Brookline.

With her mother and her sister, Babe, who will be her bridesmaid, she left Boston yesterday, planning to arrive in Chicago today and San Francisco later in the week.

A Butte, Mont., boy, Pollard first came to New England as contract rider for Mrs. Walter E. O'Hara's Araba racing stable.

There was talk then that Pollard, like Seabiscuit, was "all through."

But jockey and horse staged a dramatic comeback together, after Pollard had donned the C. S. Howard colors.

2 Held for Grand Jury For Theft of Penny

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., April 5 (AP)—A 16-year-old Negro youth charged with stealing one penny from a child's bank was held today for grand jury action.

Detective Howard Newman testified at a magistrate's hearing the boy broke into the home of Mrs. Helen Banks and smashed the bank.

Fear 2 Salem Men Foul Play Victims

Grief filled the homes of two missing men in Salem today as police of three cities sought to solve a mystery in which their only clues were a revolver holster in a blood-stained car and several phone "tips."

Raymond J. Bernier, 23, of St. Paul street, chain store manager, and Lionel Bernier, 29, of Palmer street, WPA worker, have been missing since midnight Saturday.

Despite the coincidence of their last names, the men are not in any way related.

Mrs. Raymond Bernier, mother of one child, a four-months-old baby Paul, was distracted over her husband's absence.

WIFE FEARS FOUL PLAY

"Yesterday was his birthday," she said. "He was 23. I can't think of any explanation for this. He's always been such a hard worker. He's worked for the chain store since he was 14."

"We have a nice home—here, and a lovely baby, and a car all paid for. I think he must have been kidnaped, perhaps for the $100 of store money he had as the day's receipts Saturday."

"Something must have happened to him. He never just simply went away."

Mrs. Lionel Bernier is also greatly upset by the mystery.

She was to have moved with her children from their second floor tenement last Monday, but when her husband did not come home Saturday, she could not move.

Now she is living in her small apartment, most of her belongings packed, and not sure what to do.

FIND AUTO ABANDONED

She, too, could suggest no reason for her husband's absence. She has five children, the eldest six years and the youngest three months.

The men were last seen Saturday at a Salem bowling alley after Raymond Bernier had closed his store.

Police fear the men might have been victims of foul play because of the money Raymond carried. Twelve hours later Raymond Bernier's car was found abandoned on Monroe street, Lynn, the windshield and mirror smashed, blood on the upholstery and ignition key, the empty revolver holster on the back seat.

$100 HOLDUP LOSS WON'T BAN BRIDAL

Robbed of $100 he was about to give his bride-to-be for furniture, Howard Gray, 32, of Bigelow street, Cambridge, was still firm today in his intention to be married Easter Sunday.

The girl is Isabelle McGowan of Hill street, Charlestown.

She told reporters it would take much more than the unexpected loss of much needed furniture money to keep them apart any longer.

Gray was robbed of the $100 as he was walking along Sackville street in Charlestown, according to police.

The robbers were youthful, according to the victim and seemed to have a revolver or something that looked like one.

Lost Five Years, Dog Back Home

"Bruce," a springer spaniel, disappeared five years ago from his Cambridge address, only to appear again today.

"Bruce" is the favorite pet of Harris Fahnestock, Jr., pilot at the Intercity Airlines. He went strolling one day in June, 1934, as was his custom, but didn't return.

The neighborhood was searched for days, but no Bruce. He was given up as lost.

Bruce appeared today in the garage of his master. In fact, right in the front seat of his car. He was dirty and near exhaustion. What is more he had forgotten his name.

He didn't answer to the familiar ring of "Bruce." The garage door was closed, and so were the car doors, when his master found him. His owner had moved his residence from Coudage Hill to Sedgwick road.

"I think someone must have felt a belated twinge of conscience," is the only way, Bruce's master can explain his reappearance.

But Bruce is going to make another change. Because his master is going to take unto himself a wife. And until that time, Bruce will reside in Belmont at the residence of Mrs. Allison Dempsey.

KNOX CLAIMS HE WAS SLEEPING AS GIRL WAS SHOT

George T. Knox, former state trooper, claimed he was asleep in another room when Helen Darragh Dale, pretty divorcee, was fatally shot in his apartment, it was testified today in superior court, where Knox is on trial accused of her murder.

The testimony was given by Police Sergeant William H. Long of Back Bay station, who responded to a call for police after Knox had run downstairs and told the janitor Mrs. Dale had been shot.

According to the police sergeant, the wounded woman was in the living room of the Commonwealth avenue apartment when he entered, while the gun was found beneath some papers and clothing on a chair in the bedroom where Knox said he had been sleeping.

POINTED TO GUN

The former state trooper pointed out the gun to Sergeant Long, the latter testified, and made a move as if to pick it up, but Long shouted:

"Don't touch it."

Proceeding the sergeant on the stand was Dr. Myron Hahn, Jr., tenant in the same apartment house.

He testified he was summoned to the Knox apartment and when he entered he saw Knox standing over Mrs. Dale and holding a piece of gauze to her bleeding chest as she sat slumped in a chair.

Earlier in the trial William E. Marland, superintendent and janitor of the apartment building, also testified that Mrs. Dale was in the chair when he entered.

He slumped in a green, deep-upholstered chair to illustrate to the jury how he first had seen the unconscious body of Mrs. Dale on the May afternoon in 1937 when she was shot.

TRIED "SHE'S SHOT"

The superintendent first declared Knox had rushed to his room crying, "She's shot! Helen's shot!" He said he then accompanied Knox to the living room of the apartment.

"The girl was in the room," Marland testified. "She was sitting in this chair. Her arms were hanging limp and her head was thrown back."

Q—Did she say anything? A—No. Q—Did you see any blood? A—No.

Q—Where was Knox? A—He was behind her chair, walking back and forth.

Marland testified that he himself had already summoned Dr. Hahn to the room where Mrs. Dale lay unconscious, and that police had arrived and were making a preliminary examination.

"Dr. Hahn looked at Helen, and shook his head in the negative," Marland said. "Then he took a handkerchief from a wound on her chest."

"I helped look for the gun. I went down on my hands and knees in the living room and looked around. I also looked in the bedroom. And I saw the gun there, on a bedroom chair."

"A policeman picked up the gun with a handkerchief and took it away."

The superintendent said he saw a bottle, half-filled with liquor, at the foot of the chair in which Mrs.

WEDS—Mrs. Allan Hancock, former Helen Morgan, who flew 3900 miles from Los Angeles, to Panama to become the bride of Captain Allan Hancock, famous explorer-scientist.

Dale was slumped. The windows of the room, he said, were open.

He then demonstrated to the jury how Dr. Hahn had removed a handkerchief from the wound in Mrs. Dale's chest. He said he himself did not look closely at the wound.

Under cross-examination by Atty. James J. McGrail, Marland said that on the afternoon of the shooting of Mrs. Dale, a young man had come to the apartment house and had made inquiries concerning a certain tenant. He said he would not recognize the man again.

He denied that Knox's first words to him, after the shooting, were: "Oh, she is dead!" He said the officer had cried: "She's shot!"

'Watchdogs' Missing At Budget Hearing

"Watchdogs of the treasury" they've called the City Council committee on appropriations, but four of the watchdogs were found off the leash today when the committee met to consider Mayor Tobin's budget for 1939.

At 10:30, when the committee meeting was due to start for the fifth day, there were but three members present—Chairman Perlie D. Chase of Back Bay, William A. Carey of Roxbury and James E. Lanigan of Jamaica Plain.

Missing were Councilors Henry L. Shattuck of Back Bay and Clement A. Norton of Hyde Park, two of the loudest shouters for municipal economy, and Councilors Sidney Rosenberg, Dorchester, and George F. McMahon, Roxbury.

Chairman Chase spent half an hour on the telephone, trying to reach the absentees and finally got Shattuck, who promised to come in and make a quorum.

He arrived at 11:13 and the hearing was resumed. Sheriff John F. Dowd was called as the first witness of the day. Believing the meeting would start on time, he had arrived 15 minutes early, at 10:15, and waited patiently.

Sheriff Dowd used to be a city councilor, too.

German Maid Only Winner in Film Star Smuggling Jackpot

NEW YORK, April 5 (INS)—A considerably relieved Jack Benny, his accounts with the federal government for smuggling jewelry into the country squared at the cost of a $10,000 fine, a suspended jail sentence and a tongue lashing from the judge, planned to depart late today for his home in Hollywood.

Meantime, it developed that Rosa Weber, a German housemaid with some degree of fondness for Adolf Hitler, has emerged as the only individual winner in division of the smuggling jackpot into which George Burns and Benny alone have tumbled almost $18,000 in penalties.

It was Rosa who prompted federal men to open the smuggling probe which involved the film stars and as a result she stands to collect as much as $5000 in the role of government informer.

Rosa never suspected when she joined in a conversation at the home of Mrs. Elma N. Lauer, wife of a judge, that she was laying the groundwork for a small personal fortune. The conversation centered about Adolf Hitler and the conversers were Mrs. Lauer, her husband and Albert N. Chaperau, allegedly kingpin of the smuggling plot.

Rosa was serving the soup at the time and becoming angered at what the diners were saying about the German leader she waded right into the conversation.

That was the end of Rosa's soup-serving career at the Lauers and the beginning of a large headache for the others.

Without thought of informer's fees but only aroused because of the incident at her employer's home, Rosa made the complaints which led to the smuggling investigation.

Benny, going home, will carry with him memories of an exceedingly unhappy half-hour in federal court and the thought that the two diamond clips and a bracelet which he bought abroad for $1464 as a gift for Mary Livingston, his wife and comedy partner, have already cost him an estimated $40,000 or more.

LAWYERS COST $25,000

In addition to the $10,000 fine, Benny was assessed $2131 in duty.

SHE'S NEXT—George Burns and Jack Benny have settled their differences with the federal government, but next to be sentenced is Mrs. Elma N. Lauer, wife of State Supreme Court justice. She pleaded guilty as did Albert N. Chaperau, who will be sentenced with her.

International News Photograph Service

His lawyers' fees were estimated at $25,000.

For the next year, Benny must report periodically to a federal probation officer in California. Like Burns, his friend, who was fined $8000, Benny still retains his U. S. citizenship.

Disposition of Benny's case left the sentencing of Chaperau and Mrs. Lauer to be carried out. Like Burns and Benny, they also pleaded guilty.

Lamour Guarded After Threat Note

NEW YORK, April 5 (INS)—A constant police guard was being maintained today over Dorothy Lamour, exotic film actress who received a threatening letter demanding $250, until she returns to the coast tonight.

Police were of the opinion the letter was the work of a crank.

Psychic Love Denied By Dorchester Wife

Psychic love-making and financial flimflam by a handsome but lately elusive Ahmed Abdullah, former Back Bay crystal gazer, were discussed in testimony given today by Mrs. Martha Ertz, plaintiff in an unsuccessful separate support suit in Suffolk Probate Court.

Mrs. Ertz, of East Cottage street, Dorchester, married 27 years and now in her 40s, denied having fallen in love with Abdullah, but admitted he asked her to go to Florida with him.

He said she could easily get a divorce there, she testified.

Under cross-examination, she told the court Abdullah disappeared after defrauding her of $4500.

She said her stock on his advice, she said, after he warned her the market would wipe her out, if she didn't do as he suggested.

She finally complained to Boston police, she testified, but they failed to find Abdullah, although they learned he had used such aliases as Freddy Greene and Freddy Leibowitz and had victimized other Greater Boston women.

Mrs. Ertz, in her direct testimony, accused her husband, Ludwig Ertz, of twice attempting to poison her. She also charged him with unfaithfulness and cruelty.

She admitted that for years he gave her his entire pay, $45 a week, keeping only 25 cents a day for carfare.

Judge John V. Mahoney denied Mrs. Ertz' petition for a legal separation and separate support.

Harbor Yields Body of Youth

The body of an unidentified youth, believed an accidental drowning victim, was found today in Fort Point channel, near the Dover street bridge.

Police Surgeon Joseph W. Devine said the body had not been in the water many hours. Witnesses told of seeing a youth, resembling the victim, paddling a plank raft across the channel.

The dead youth was described as 19-to-20 years old, five feet seven, brown hair, brown eyes, wearing overalls, gray sweater, blue shirt, tan shoes.

Hold 'Bomb' Boy On New Charge

NEW BEDFORD, April 5 (AP)—Charged with unlawful possession of a home-made "bomb" described by State chemists as "powerful enough to blow up a house," a youth arraigned as Edward Hoxie, 17, of Barnstable, pleaded guilty today and was given a suspended three months' jail sentence.

He was placed on probation for a year.

Police told Judge Walter L. Conditine in District Court the explosive was found in a car driven by Hoxie. They described it as cylindrical, 12 inches long, and filled with gunpowder.

State Trooper Ernest W. M. Mawn, who said he was acting for Barnstable police, took Hoxie into custody as he left court. Mawn said the youth would face breaking and entering charges in that town.

Revere Voting Change Asked

Several prominent residents of Revere today appeared before the legislative committee on cities and urged passage of legislation providing for city elections every odd numbered year instead of as at present in even numbered years.

Louis B. Sousa, sponsor of one of the bills, told the committee that if elections are held in odd numbered years it will prevent residents of Revere from moving into Chelsea or Boston, voting in odd numbered years and then going back to Revere to vote there the following year.

City Solicitor Frederick Reinsteil said he believes 95 percent of the voters of Revere favor the proposed change.

HITLER'S 'BIBLE' IRKS LYNN

Offered a copy of the Nazi "Bible," "Mein Kampf" personally donated by its author, Adolf Hitler, Lynn English High School heads found themselves in a quandary today.

The Hitler book, a gift of Der Fuehrer, himself, is now part of a collection owned by Miss Pearl E. Beonga, a Lynn high school graduate at present teaching in Saugus.

She wrote European rulers and political leaders asking for books expounding and illustrating their ideals and theories. Among those who answered was Hitler. He sent Miss Beonga a German-printed volume of "Mein Kampf."

The young Saugus teacher offered her alma mater, Lynn English high school, her whole collection of gift books from Europe.

Since "Mein Kampf" is popular reading all over the United States at present, two expurgated editions of it having been printed here, Lynn English High officials weren't worried by its subject matter.

But they were undetermined as to whether or not they should accept, even indirectly, a Hitler donation to their library.

They have until May 5 to make their minds up. That's the date of a 50th anniversary alumni banquet, at which Miss Beonga's books are to be presented.

VFW Head Hits Chelsea Move

Governor Saltonstall's recommendation that hospital facilities at the Chelsea Soldiers' Home be eliminated, as an economy move, was assailed today by Eugene Sheehan of Somerville, state commander of the Disabled Veterans of the World War.

"I believe I voice the opinion of the 18,000 disabled veterans of Massachusetts in saying that the people of the Commonwealth will never permit the false economy proposed by the governor," Sheehan said.

"It is bitterly ironic that the state should consider expenditure of $1,700,000 for a hospital for the criminally insane, half of them aliens, yet do nothing for the heroic men who have suffered for the past 20 years by reason of their service so that this Commonwealth and this great nation should survive."

R. I. Man Shoots Self After Wife's Visit

FALL RIVER, April 5 (AP)—Merle Wardell, 25, of Adamsville, R. I., was in a critical condition in a Fall River hospital today from gunshot wounds which Rhode Island state police said were self-inflicted.

The shooting occurred last night, state police reported, after Wardell's wife, Dorothy, visited him at his home.

Marion Talley's Hubby Lauds N. Y. Life

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—Adolph G. Eckstrom, fighting in the courts with his estranged wife, singer Marion Talley, over custody of their four-year-old child, contended today that the "cultural life of New York city is not inferior to that of the very rich in Beverly Hills, Calif."

He made this observation in a ten-page answer filed with State Supreme Court Justice Frankenthaler to Miss Talley's previous "reflections" upon his home life, which she made in arguing that she was better able to care for the child.

"Whatever the social advantages of Beverly Hills," said Eckstrom, "they are not superior to the plain, comfortable living in New York city."

He alleged that an attempt to "seize" the child had been made last February 2 at the home of her aunt in Mamaroneck, N. Y. He said Miss Talley appeared with a "strange man."

Police were called to prevent the seizure of the child, said Eckstrom.

Priest Pledges Thousands To Fight Invasion of 'Isms'

The Rev. Edward Lodge Curran, famed Catholic foe of "isms", today had the pledge of 7000 listeners at his debate with Granville Hicks of Harvard—a pledge to fight Nazism, Fascism, and Communism.

Nearly to a man, a huge audience in Mechanics building rose cheering in answer to his concluding call for volunteers to resist invasions of "isms" in America.

For his opponent, Hicks, a Communist and fellow in history at Harvard, there were boos and hisses, with Mayor Tobin finally coming to the rostrum to appeal for less harsh treatment of the avowed Communist.

Applause and cheers were the reward for Father Curran, editor, writer and president of the International Catholic Truth Society.

Not only was every seat taken in the hall, but 5000 persons were gathered outside and heard the debate by means of amplifiers. The priest took the affirmative side, and Hicks defended Communism.

AMERICANS ARE DUPED

Hicks was booed by the huge crowd when he said the Bolsheviks took over Russia in a bloodless revolution, and again when he referred to Fr. Coughlin as an enemy of democracy. These were the only hostile incidents of the evening. Seventy-five uniformed officers and 25 plainclothesmen were deployed about the building.

Hicks intimated that his Communist beliefs were behind the failure of Harvard University authorities to reappoint him for another year.

"Membership in the Communist party may well cost a man his job, as I and thousands of others can tell you," he said.

Father Curran, introduced by Mayor Tobin, said:

"The program of the Russian Internationale instructs Communists in America that if America goes to war you must defeat your own imperialistic government. We, the Internationale, will tell you what to do. The dictatorship of the prole-rian government is what you must fight for."

"I would like to ask the Communist members of this audience if such a debate as this could be held in Soviet Russia?"

HICKS EXPLAINS AIMS

"The only difference between Stalin and Hitler is the size of their mustaches. Communists wrap themselves in the folds of the American flag so they can dupe the American workers and undermine democracy."

"None of the guarantees of our constitution are found in Russia. The record of the past 20 years in that country show the most radical trend in the history of the world. We fought the American Revolution to throw off the yoke of oppression. And we must fight against the aims of Communism, which are definitely a program of oppression."

Hicks in reply said:

"It is ridiculous to call us enemies of democracy. Our fundamental aim is the supplanting of the capitalist system. It is a democratic aim. We propose to eliminate the curse of exploitation. We propose by the establishment of socialism to lay a foundation for a truer democracy than the world has yet known."

Hicks quoted a number of Catholic writers who, he declared, admit that the things the Communists do are democratic and serve democratic ends.

Hicks said private property is not destroyed under Communism, which he referred to as Socialism. For the first time many persons will be able to own their own homes, cars and furniture, he said. But nobody can use property to make a profit out of other people.

When he offered to debate Fr. Curran in Madison Square Garden on "Fr. Coughlin, the Enemy of Democracy," the priest rebuked him and said Fr. Coughlin was a great leader for social justice.

President Follows Situation Abroad

WARM SPRINGS, Ga., April 5 (AP)—President Roosevelt roamed the red clay roads of the Warm Springs Foundation again today in search of relaxation. His only announced official act was issuance of a proclamation declaring May 1 to be "Child Health Day."

The temporary White House switchboard, however, kept them in constant touch with Washington and European capitals as the delicate international situation developed. Mr. Roosevelt told newspapermen that most of his attention since reaching Georgia March 30 had been devoted to following developments abroad.

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—With no signs of truce imminent, negotiators for the American Federation of Labor and the Congress of Industrial Organizations will meet for the eighth time tonight in their current effort to build a labor pact.

They closed a four-hour conference last night without reporting progress. Announcement by the Senate education and labor committee that public hearings would begin April 11 on proposed changes in the Wagner act provided a fresh stumbling block.

TRUCKERS' PARLEY IN HUB TODAY

Drastic action to put an immediate end to the strike of truck drivers in southern Massachusetts by the Massachusetts Board of Conciliation and Arbitration is expected today as the trucking war continued with no signs of yielding by truck operators.

The state board has called "all union officials and all truckers affected by the strike," whether members of the negotiating association or not, to a general parley at the State House.

The almost unprecedented action was taken after previous efforts here had failed to bring the opposing union and association factions into agreement. The strike is now in its 18th day, after starting with a walkout of 3000 drivers in Providence following three months of effort to reach an agreement.

"One big company," operating out of New York, which seeks to control the trucking industry, and at the same time drive hundreds of small truckers out of business, was blamed yesterday by union officials for failure to reach an agreement.

This "one big company," Local 443 of Bridgeport said in an official statement of its executive committee, has "repudiated and blocked" every compromise reached by other truckers, because it did not fit with their plans.

Henderson Seen As SEC Head

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Senate confirmation of William O. Douglas as a Supreme Court justice brought renewed predictions that Leon Henderson, New Deal economist, would get his place as chairman of the Securities Commission.

Douglas was confirmed late yesterday, 62 to 4. Senators Frazier and Nye of North Dakota, Lodge of Massachusetts and Reed of Kansas, all Republicans, voted in opposition.

Douglas will take his place on the bench beside three other appointees of President Roosevelt—Justices Black, Reed and Frankfurter. The court will reconvene April 17.

Woman Jury Bill Doom Is Expected

In a gesture of chivalry toward two women members of the House of Representatives a bill to provide for jury duty for women was substituted for an adverse report. But Rep. John Phillip White of Jamaica Plain, who proposed it, said:

The bill is not expected to survive today in the House.

2 NAVAL BOARDS PROBE AIR CRASH

tum naval air base for questioning of witnesses, including Lieutenant Samuel G. Caldwell, leader of the fatal flight.

The navy victims were Lieutenant Commander Waldo H. Brown, 43, of Milton, millionaire sportsman, whose widow, the former Frances Gray, Detroit heiress, witnessed the launching ceremonies. Aviation Cadet Ellsworth Benson, 26, of Newton; Aviation Chief Carpenter's Mate Walter Kirk, 40, of Quincy, and Aviation Chief Machinist's Mate John Ausiello, 25, of Revere.

Added to the toll today was the name of John I. Tower, Hingham World War hero, who collapsed and died after running to the scene of the crash. Two other persons, both victims of heart attacks as the ships rocketed to the ground, were in serious condition today.

They were William Madden, 75, who fled his flaming house to collapse on the sidewalk, and Mrs. Mary Davis of Quincy, a visitor in the house adjoining.

WIND IS BLAMED

"I believe that the wind, blowing from the northwest at about 25 miles an hour, was a contributing cause to the accident," Commander Kernode said.

"The planes were on a regular training flight," he added, "and had flown as far as Hyannis and circled back to Quincy in time to be over the shipyards a few minutes after 11 o'clock—when the Wasp went down the ways."

"Until a formal investigation has been held it is impossible to discuss the cause of the accident. The planes, however, were coming out of an echelon formation and about to make a V-formation, three planes in each V. Brown and Brennan were in the second squad about to form the wings from the leading plane of Lieutenant G. W. Von Cohn. Their altitude at that time was about 1500 feet."

"Benson's plane fell first, Brown apparently tried to pull out of a spin, but damage to the plane threw him into a dive."

Commander Kernode pointed out that the fliers stayed with their ships—dying as heroes rather than crash in the vicinity of the Fore River yards where 15,000 persons were gathered to witness the launching.

ONLY ONE BAILED OUT

Abandoned planes might have crashed into that press of thousands, wreaking terrific casualties, Kernode said.

Another danger point lay only a short distance away, he said, in the storage plant of the Cities Service Co., where hundreds of thousands of gallons of gasoline are stored.

Kernode pointed out that but for the efforts of the fliers the planes might have crashed into the farm, firing a potential holocaust that would have wiped out the area.

Only one of the four, he said, attempted to "bail out" and that after the danger of crashing into the crowd or oil farm was averted.

FLYING FATHER KILLED—Cutting her vacation short, Ann Hayward Brown, Milton debutante, today was dashing back from Bermuda to attend funeral of her father, Lieutenant-Commander Waldo Brown, killed yesterday when he leaped from falling navy plane over Braintree.

That victim, Lieut.-commr. Brown, tumbled to the ground, striking overhead wires and a large rock before his body came to rest, half-buried in a mud hole.

A few seconds difference would have meant his life, Kernode declared, as with 50 to 75 feet more altitude his parachute would have opened sufficiently to allow him to float to the ground safely.

The tragedy left 12 children fatherless in Greater Boston homes. Three victims were married and the fourth was the only child of a widowed mother.

Brown's wife witnessed the collision in midair and burst into tears, unaware of his fate, but knowing that he was in the flight from Squantum Air Base.

Kernode said the flight was a regular training trip and all four were equipped with parachutes and safety belts.

"They were flying conservatively," he declared, explaining he saw them from the shipyard a few minutes before the crash.

"It was as safe and sane flying as I have ever seen. It must have been the wind up there which knocked one wing into that of the other plane."

He also pointed out that both planes did not plunge vertically into the houses, but struck them broadside and with full power on, indicating the doomed fliers were still striving frantically to avoid striking buildings in the crippled machines.

Lost Medford Man Returns

Sought by police since he disappeared, crazed by grief over death of his wife, Alfonso F. Huygens, 36-year-old Medford WPA worker, returned to his home in Evans street today.

He said he had been walking the streets, trying to get physically tired so he could sleep.

His 13-year-old son, Oscar, has been staying with an uncle in Dorchester. Police made arrangements to return the boy to his father. The mother, Julia, died two weeks ago.

Oscar said his father sobbed all night, every night, since the funeral.

FAVOR POLICE PENSION

The House has referred a bill providing for pensions for state police to the Ways and Means Committee, ignoring a recommendation of the pensions committee that the measure be rejected immediately.

PLAN RITES FOR CRASH VICTIMS

"Killed in the line of duty..."

That's the official naval pronouncement of what happened to the four fliers killed yesterday when their two planes crashed and burned.

And, today, high ranking officers are planning fitting tribute to them. The four were:

Lieutenant Commander Waldo H. Brown, naval reserve, socially prominent, rich, husband of an heiress and father of five children. The Brown home is in Adams street, Milton.

Flying Cadet Ellsworth Benson, with three years of service behind him, due to graduate in August, with a co-pilot job waiting for him at United Airlines. He lived in Newton.

PLAN FOR RITES

Chief Machinist Mate John R. Ausiello, father of four, a radio experimenter headed for higher rank. He lived in Revere.

Chief Carpenter's Mate Walter Kirk, father of three, who lived in Arlington street, Quincy.

And here, so far, are the plans for last rites for each:

This afternoon the Furness-Bermuda liner Lancastria sails from St. George, Bermuda. Ann Hayward Brown, debutante daughter of Lieutenant-Commander Brown, is on that ship, hurrying home.

At the Brown home in Milton, where Commander Brown's young widow, the former Frances M. Gray, heiress to Detroit automobile millions, is prostrated, few words were spoken.

"There are no funeral plans yet—nor will there be until Miss Ann comes home," says a voice.

MOTHER MOURNS

His, family still can't believe Ausiello is really dead.

Mrs. Florence Ausiello moves about the house sadly. About her are their children, Francis J., 10; Dolores, 8; Joan, Jr., 6, and June 5. Grieving in a corner is Mrs. Annie Ausiello, aged mother.

Services Saturday at the Immaculate Conception Church, Revere.

Benson's mother, Mrs. Elma A. Benson, a widow and a teacher in the Angier school, Waban. She was too grief-stricken today to think about a funeral.

There was grief and prostration at the Kirk home in Quincy, too, where his widow, Mrs. Mary Kirk, did what she could to comfort their daughters, Elaine, 10; Dorothy, 6, and Beverly, 5. Their plans for a funeral will be made public later.

STIMSON BACKS FD ON NEUTRALITY SHIFT

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—Henry L. Stimson, former Republican secretary of state, urged Congress today to amend the neutrality act to give the President wider discretionary powers.

Stimson said that should a general war start in Europe this spring, the present neutrality law might frustrate a prompt response by the United States, the chief victim of attack.

Stimson, who headed the State Department under President Hoover, said the law is "a half-century old" and "does not give the President the power to take any action to prevent a war."

Chief of proposed changes is an amendment by Chairman Pittman (D) of Nevada to permit sale of arms and ammunition to belligerent countries in a "cash and carry" basis. Such sales would be prohibited.

Providing Stimson's testimony, Chairman Pittman, on the eve of the 221 anniversary of American entry into the World War, said that the neutrality law has been "quickly" because any change made during the war might be "construed as unpatriotic."

Without naming Germany, Italy and Japan specifically, Stimson said some governments, by aggressive tactics, had repeated "warn" against and "challenge" the rule of international relations based on mutual respect.

His chief reason for such the amendment is that the United States must be able to "take prompt action" and "to meet a crisis."

Stimson said he has "no doubt" that the President will "take prompt action" and "to meet a crisis."

SON BORN TO QUEEN, KING ZOG

TIRANA, April 5 (AP)—An heir to the Albanian throne, a crown prince, was born today to Queen Geraldine and King Zog I.

of what the Germans call "cancellation."

"There is no reason or foundation for any sensational interpretations of the first lord's comment," said the prime minister.

"I gave directions to ask the press not to publish it, or, if it was published, not to ascribe any particular importance to it."

HIJS MANNED

Chamberlain confirmed, nevertheless, that practice customary in times of tension was resorted to.

"Some men were retained aboard their own ships in readiness to man the guns, as has been normal practice in times of tension."

"No other orders had been given by the admiralty than this: that the practice should not be relaxed even on such special occasions at last night's entertainment."

DISLIKES SPOTLIGHT

"Apparently my efforts to spare the public from unnecessary agitation were not altogether successful, but the incident will at any rate have served to demonstrate the constant readiness of the navy for all eventualities."

In the House of Lords at the same time the Earl of Stanhope, who had conferred with Chamberlain earlier, reaffirmed the prime minister's declaration that the speech was "not premeditated," and denied that he asked the press to feature it.

"I have never been anxious to call the spotlight on myself," Lord Stanhope said. "I can only express my keen regret that my remarks of mine emphasizing the readiness of the navy to meet all eventualities should have caused concern."

BRADSHAW N. E. Going After Tourists' Trade

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

New England is not allowing vacation attractions in other parts of the country to endanger her travel and resort business. In fact, inducements to visit this section are being offered tourists in the hope of changing their itinerary.

The New England Business Association, representing the numerous department stores, hotels, and other tourist attractions, has issued a circular letter to the effect that the association is not in favor of the proposed legislation by N. E. states.

SEE N. E. TOO... is literally suggested by the railroad through adoption of inducement rates to the big world's fairs. The association announced that it would consider any special rates for the fairs in this section. It also stated that it would consider any special rates for the fairs in this section. It also stated that it would consider any special rates for the fairs in this section.

OLD PEPPERSON... is also going to play a part in the New York World's Fair. That can be seen from the fact that the association has issued a circular letter to the effect that the association is not in favor of the proposed legislation by N. E. states.

RUKEYSER Lighting High Spot Of Coast Fair

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER
International News Service Economic Commentator

IN THE WEST, April 5—The most auspicious time to get a first impression of the Golden Gate Exposition in San Francisco Bay is after dark.

The soft moonlight and after the opening is the high spot of this fair just as Liane Egypt dominated the 53 World's Fair at Chicago and just as Sally Rand ran away with the show and the ladies at Chicago 38-34 show.

The magnificent lights, the expression of progress in industrial technology as industry moves forward by setting as pattern in the creative mind, the future in the realm of science, invention and engineering.

The industrial exhibits showing the fruits of progress should be an inspiration to the coming generation, wondering about the new products of American life. Through the tangible assembly of evidence of progress in this fair runs the intangible theme that the world is not yet completed and that there remain opportunities for invention and creative progress.

"We hope we've set one boy to dreaming."

There is especially need of this

Millions of people will be given a chance to study the unusual means of creating motive power. And as they look over the display, the approaching airport buses, swarming to remove them will feel the urge to travel to the scene where its successors operate over a 24-mile route to the summit of Mt. Washington. All of which is by way of adding charm and little pomp to modern business getting methods.

EXPANSION AHEAD... Was the cheering tenor of Walter von Trotschke remarks at the weekly luncheon of the Advertising Club in Boston. When the speaker was asked if he thought the future of the stock market was bright, he replied that he thought it was bright.

LARGEST HOLDERS... Of New England Telephone's common stock and preferred stock. The company has issued a circular letter to the effect that the company is not in favor of the proposed legislation by N. E. states.

IN THESE DAYS when youth has been fed with so much defeatist information, the fair is a chance to see the future of the world. The fair is a chance to see the future of the world. The fair is a chance to see the future of the world.

In order to economize on post roads back East, I would point out that the original report about the Boston fair was that it was a success. The fair was a success. The fair was a success.

The intangible theme that the world is not yet completed and that there remain opportunities for invention and creative progress. The intangible theme that the world is not yet completed and that there remain opportunities for invention and creative progress.

Aviations Are Higher in Slow Market INDENTURE VETO POWER OPPOSED

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—Airplane shares rallied upward as pivots for a stock market attempt at a rally today. But other groups were slow to follow.

WHY nervousness over the war machine seemed to have relaxed somewhat in money centers, traders were timid about venturing on the buying side and small gains and losses near midday reflected a waiting attitude. Dealings slackened as the heavy selling in the previous session thinned out.

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—The investment bankers of America expressed opposition today to legislation to give the securities commission greater control over trust indentures, on the ground it would impede private financing.

John R. Starkweather, of New York city chairman of the U. S. legislative committee, said: "I believe there is no question but that the passage of this bill will immensely complicate the business of raising corporate funds, that it will increase the direct cost, delay the process and even further deter businessmen from the raising of new capital by public offerings."

Trust indentures are legal documents by which scattered security holders vest control of their corporate rights in a single person or agency.

Answering SEC criticism that the public interest required strict regulation of indentures, Starkweather said: "I believe there is no question but that the passage of this bill will immensely complicate the business of raising corporate funds, that it will increase the direct cost, delay the process and even further deter businessmen from the raising of new capital by public offerings."

"What is the purpose of the bill unless it is distinctly to increase the direct veto power of the commission of the public issuance of the securities of private industries?"

"It is this, really an entering wedge to increase the power of Washington and undermine our whole financial structure."

SEC Accuses Big Utility

WASHINGTON, April 5 (AP)—The Securities Commission, accused the $200,000,000 Union Electric Company of misleading investors in its offering of $10,000,000 of new common stock.

It was the first time the SEC has charged a utility company with making political contributions in violation of federal law.

Federal law provides prison terms of as much as five years and fines up to $10,000 for some of the violations charged in the commission's charges.

A public investigation on the commission's accusations was ordered for April 24.

PLAY OF JEWISH LIFE OUTSTANDING COMEDY HIT

"Round the Family Table" which began a week's engagement at the Majestic Theater yesterday with the original New York cast is to say the least, an outstanding comedy hit.

Michael Rosenberg of Yiddish stage and screen fame (Chai Adon, Jewish Blush, Yodel Babylon) and the chief characters, Joseph and his wife, are a typical Jewish family.

Rosenberg becomes the first parent of a Jewish family to play the son of a Jewish father. He is playing the role of Chai Adon, the son of a Jewish father.

The play and the cast are at times very funny and very touching. As one of the characters says, every minute of fun must have its payment.

During its first run at the Majestic Theater, the play has been a great success. It is a comedy play, and it is being held over for two more days at the Metropolitan Theater.

Parents are unhappy. Children are happy. Parents change their minds. Parents live happily ever after. That's "Round the Family Table."

The boards of the Majestic Theater will also to the laughter of the comedy audience for the rest of the week, including a Sunday evening performance and two matinees today and Saturday. It's a great show. It's well done. Michael Rosenberg is very funny. You should see it.

KEITH MEMORIAL

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

One of the most important decisions of Mrs. M. was to have her husband's body cremated. Most of the time, she said, she had felt that people who are buried in the United States Hospital are "left in the ground." After Mrs. M. learned that the crematorium was a "new and modern" place, where the bodies were "burned up and the bones were ground up and the ashes were put in a box," she decided to have her husband cremated.

At the time of the 2 sisters' arrival, the 19-year-old sister, Aileen, was at the Los Angeles Hospital and was pregnant. When the 2 sisters left the custody of SAM, they were dressed in a pair of jeans and a couple of tops.

Hostesses are Mary Mackay, one of the greatest of Sunday night support parties to plan the program and among the many planning to attend with groups of friends are Mrs. and Mrs. Henry B. April Is Full of Good Deeds

Dodging April showers may become a sport before the month is over but if the show of fiscal affairs on the April calendar is any criterion, surely a country and dodging good deeds is the least of the worst of worldly sins.

PIPGRAS SUCCESS AS A. L. UMPIRE

BIG LEAGUES SOON

—Only a kid, Sebastian Sisti, above, will be a major league infielder within a year or two, Casey Stengel says. But Sebby is going to play with Fresco Thompson's farm team at Hartford this year.

Former Sox Pitcher To Stay in Majors

By JOE CASHMAN

COLUMBIA, S. C., April 5—It seems but yesterday and is only four years since George Pipgras was a Red Sox pitching ace.

Now the same young man is again with us, but this time as the umpire assigned by the American League to officiate the Fenway flock's exhibition game on this trek North.

And he sits back and smiles as he hears the current Croninmen echo the complaints that he and his mates used to utter annually in the spring when he was with the Yanks and Sox.

Barnstorming always has been and always will be the pet peeve of big leaguers.

Playing in a different town every day, often on atrocious fields; hopping here in a bus and there in a train; spending tonight on a sleeper and tomorrow night on a back-breaking bed in some lunk town inn; grabbing meals on the fly.

The boys don't like it a little bit. But Pipgras, subject to the same inconveniences, protests no longer. Rather, he protests against the protesting.

PLAYERS HAVE NO KICK

"Instead of complaining," he asserts, "these players ought to get down on their knees every night and pray they'll never have it tougher."

"They don't realize how lucky they are to be in the big leagues. They experience a few hardships for a couple of weeks and holler their heads off. Conditions in the minors are immeasurably worse all the time."

"I started out in the Eastern League last year. It was nothing for me to be forced to work a night game in Hazelton and then jump in my car and drive until noon the next day to get to Hartford in time for a double-header and I got the customary 1½ cents per mile for a trip that cost me about 5 cents a mile."

"After that taste of the minors you can bet you'll never hear me moaning again about the trials and tribulations of barnstorming."

"I'm too happy to be back in big time and so should every player up here."

Pipgras has had a surprisingly rapid rise in his new profession.

REPLACED ORMSBY

The "breaks" were with him. He was pulled into the American League late last season when Umpire Emmett Ormsby took sick. He was engaged to return this year because it was still a question of whether Ormsby is well enough to resume calling 'em.

If Ormsby does come back, Pipgras will hang on as a spare.

GEORGE PIPGRAS

Wooderson To Run at Princeton

LONDON, April 5 (AP)—Sydney Wooderson, Britain's holder of the world mile and half-mile records, was granted permission today to compete in Princeton University's invitation track meet, June 17 after a controversy with the British amateur athletic board.

The board's action will result in the matching of the two greatest milers of the day—Glenn Cunningham, whose 4:04.4 indoors is the fastest mile ever run, and Wooderson, who holds the international record of 4:06.4. Wooderson's record for the half is 1:49.2. The International Federation does not recognize indoor marks.

Wooderson received permission only after threatening to compete without the board's permission. He said the board tried to prevent him from competing at Princeton so that he would be available for British A. A. championships, June 7-8.

He also said the United States A. A. U. indicated it would cancel the invitation to Britain to send a team to compete against a picked American team at New York's Randall's Island in July unless Wooderson deferred his American debut until that meet.

British-U. S. Meet Off, Says Dan Ferris

NEW YORK, April 5 (AP)—The track meet between picked athletes of Great Britain and the United States, scheduled for New York's Randall's Island July 15, will not be held if Sydney Wooderson goes through with his announcement to make his American debut at the Princeton invitation meet, Dan Ferris, secretary of the A. A. U., said today.

"We told the British Amateur Athletic Union that we could not hold the meet unless Wooderson ran his first race in this country in our meet," said Ferris. "Naturally his race against Glenn Cunningham would have been the drawing card."

"We told them to let Wooderson make his choice, but if he chose Princeton the All-Star meet would be off."

STENGEL LAUDS SISTI AS BEES PACK DUDS

By JACK CONWAY

BRADENTON, Fla., April 5—The Bees break camp tomorrow morning, and start the drive back North in a game with Newark at Sebring, Fla. The club has been here since the latter part of February, and has had ample time to get into proper condition for the National League pennant fight.

"We remained in camp longer than other clubs so as to give all of our players an opportunity to get into perfect condition," said Casey Stengel. "We sacrificed game receipts on the road for what we thought was for the best interest of the team."

SISTI SATISFIED

"The practice sessions here this week at which no admission was charged gave me an opportunity to get a line on all of my players."

"I had Al Lopez checking on the catchers, George Kelly and Mike Kelley watching the infielders, while I gave special attention to the outfielders. We now know what players we wish to retain. In a few days we shall let several players go."

Casey declared he was impressed by Sebastian Sisti, 18-year-old infielder.

"This boy is going to make the big league grade in time," said Casey, "but for the present he will do better with Hartford than with the Bees. He needs plenty of regular work."

"I told Sisti I would probably carry him as far as Washington. He came right back, and said he didn't have any objections to going as far as Boston. He is a smart boy, and is a natural ball player."

Al Simmons has had his share of troubles in fielding in left field.

SIMMONS HARD WORKER

One day while chasing a fly ball Simmons almost crashed into a clothesline that was outside of the Bees' clubhouse.

Simmons has worked hard, despite all the handicaps here. His hitting has been good and he should bat for 300 this season.

Simmons is a certainty to start in left field.

It looks as if Buddy Hassett will win the right field assignment. He has shown superior fielding ability to John Dickshot and Max West.

West is still hopeful of replacing Jimmy Outlaw in center field. Neither of these players has shown any brilliant outfield form.

"Put me in center field, and your worries are over," 31-year-old John Cooney told Stengel. Cooney has displayed fine fielding form here, while he is always picking the spots for his hits.

Casey, of course, fears that Cooney's age would count against him the longer the season progressed, and he will strive to get a younger man as his regular center fielder. Cooney will be held in reserve as a utility outfielder if Casey can uncover some youngsters who can field.

Four Days Left To Enter Contest

Fans sending entries in the Right or Wrong baseball contest are warned that failure to place sufficient postage on their replies to the Baseball Contest Editor will automatically eliminate their entries.

Hundreds of contest selections are coming in, with not a few of them carrying insufficient postage.

Take no chances. Have your envelope weighed. Then place the correct amount of stamps on the envelope.

Enter the contest today. It is not too late to start. The deadline is not until midnight Saturday.

For back copies apply at the circulation department of either the Boston Evening American or the Daily Record, 5 Winthrop square, Boston.

The contest editor has been deluged with telephone calls during the past few days from fans who are unable to interpret the rules of the contest correctly. For the most part contestants are in a quandary as to which the list of statements below the picture refer—the photograph or the first statement.

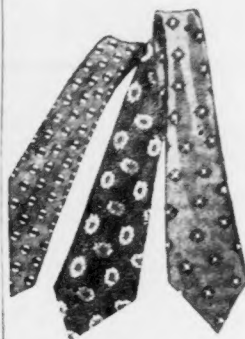

The main theme of the contest points to the photograph, so consequently the statements necessarily follow in order. For example, if the picture is Jim Bagby and the caption says it is Al Lopez then all further statements refer to Jim Bagby and not Lopez.

Also, fans, don't forget to enclose your letter of not less than 50 words or not more than 100 words on "Why Baseball Is the National Pastime."

Remember the deadline, Midnight Saturday.

Charley Gelbert in Shotgun Almost Ended Career

BRADENTON, Fla., April 5—Charley Gelbert, who is playing shortstop for the Washington Senators at the age of 33, is entitled to be rated as the most courageous player in baseball.

Back in 1932 Gelbert was one of the famous "Gas House Gang" of the St. Louis Cardinals. He was a great infielder and a power hitter. "I then met with the shotgun accident," Gelbert told me as we chatted in front of the Manatee River Hotel.

I asked Gelbert to show me his wound. He lifted the trouser of his left leg and rolled down the sock. Just above the ankle and running around the entire leg was an ugly scar.

"The shotgun explosion almost took my left leg off," said Gelbert with a grin. "Part of the bone was shot away, but the surgeons placed it back in position. There was an open wound for two and a half years, and it looked as if I would never play baseball again. When I finally resumed playing, I suffered great pain in the lower part of my left leg and in my left foot.

"One winter I did considerable walking, and always wore heavy, tight fitting socks. I decided they helped me, and so I had a special sock made for my left foot. It grips very tightly, and gives me the support I need.

"I had a good year at Toledo in 1938, and I am now back in the big show. I am glad of the opportunity to play shortstop and believe I shall make good. I'm rooting for my leg to hold up."

Gelbert Most Popular Player in Florida Camp

IN A GAME against the Bees Gelbert displayed his old batting power. He drove a terrific double to left field and raced to second base as if there never had been anything the matter with his left leg.

There has not been a ball player in Florida who has been as well received by the crowds as Gelbert. They all know the story of Charley's injury and how his courage and determination have enabled him to stage his remarkable comeback.

"There are only a few members of the old 'Gas House Gang' left in St. Louis," said Gelbert.

Predicts Bright Future For Eddie Miller of Bees

GELBERT CONSIDERS Eddie Miller of the Bees one of the greatest shortstops in baseball.

"You'll admit I know something about playing shortstop," said Charley as he smiled good naturedly. "and I want to go on record as declaring Eddie Miller of the Bees will prove one of the stars of the National League this year."

"Miller is one of those natural shortstops who always seems to do everything right. He is a brilliant fielder, and particularly fast on double plays. He is one of the few infielders who still dives for a ball when it is necessary for him to do so. He is able to throw the ball when flat on his stomach."

"I know how Boston fans liked 'Rabbit' Maranville. I am sure they will become an enthusiastic over Miller after they have had an opportunity to see him in action."

Gelbert looks for Washington to display improved strength in the American League this year.

"We have plenty of batting power, and improved pitching," said Gelbert. "We have a flock of Cubans with our club, and if a few of them can come up to advance notices we will give the other American League clubs plenty of opposition."

Bucky Harris, manager of the Senators, came along as Gelbert made the last statement.

"If some of my Cubans can hit base hits as fast as they can talk, my ball club will be all right," declared Harris.

"What about the Red Sox? They have a power club and better pitching than a year ago. Their weakness is catching. Other than Desautels they are weak behind the bat. The club needs at least one more good catcher if it is to beat out the Yankees."

I left Charley Gelbert talking with Johnny Drohan. Gelbert is still one of the finest looking athletes in baseball, and the fellow is the happiest person in the world because he is once more in the big show doing things.
